

Chiffres clés

HAL est l'archive ouverte française multidisciplinaire au service de la diffusion en libre accès des publications scientifiques de chercheurs et chercheuses affiliés à des institutions de recherche et d'enseignement supérieur.
Déposer dans HAL contribue au rayonnement des publications. Consulter HAL donne accès à un corpus d'exception.

HAL en bref

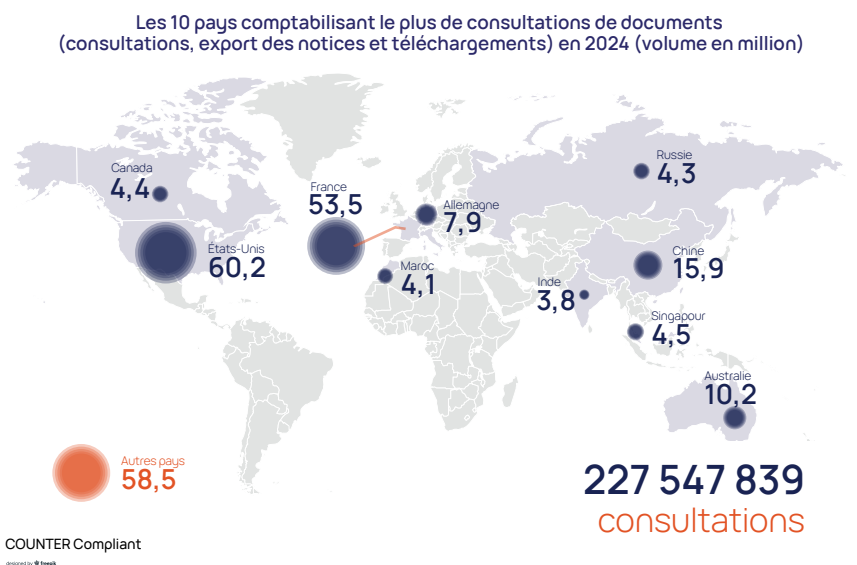

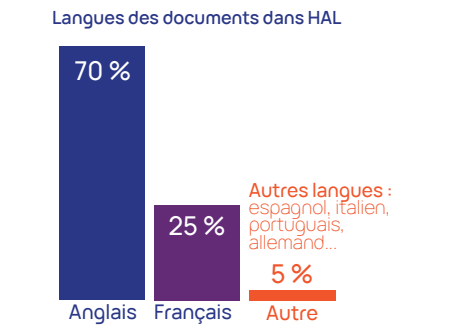

Autres types de documents (4%) :
livre, video, article de blog, HDR, notice de dictionnaire, dossier de revue, logiciel, traduction, son, carte.

Autres disciplines (8%) :
chimie, sciences cognitives, statistiques, économie et finance quantitative, science non linéaire

Visibilité internationale

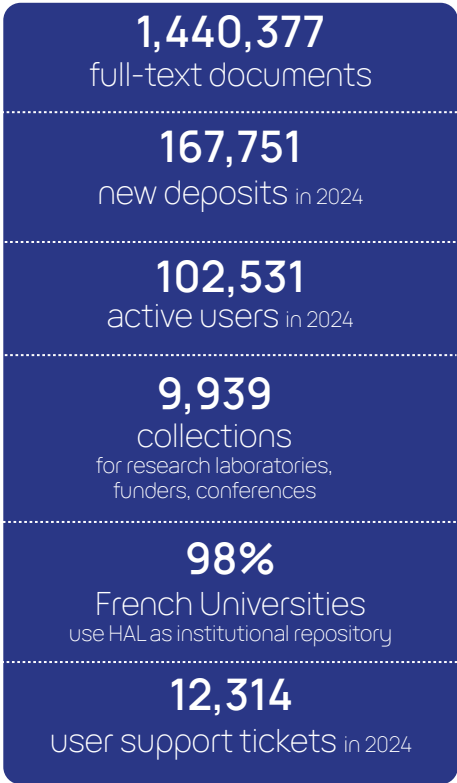

Key figures

HAL is the French multidisciplinary open repository that enables researchers from universities and research instituions to disseminate their scientific publications.
Submitting to HAL increases the visibility of publications, while browsing HAL provides comprehensive access to an exceptional collection of full-text research documents.

Content

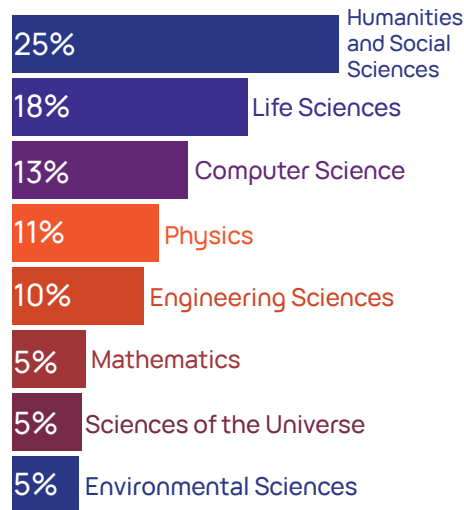

Types of documents in HAL (global)

Other types of documents (4%):
book, video, lecture, blog post, proceedings,
dictionary notice, journal issue, software,
translation, sound, map.

Disciplines in HAL (global)

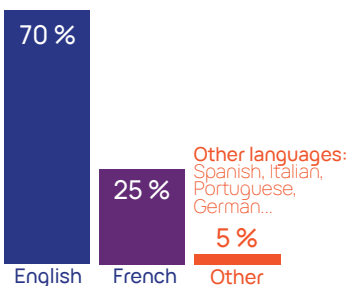

Other disciplines (8%):
chemical sciences, cognitive science, statistics,
quantitative finance, nonlinear sciences.

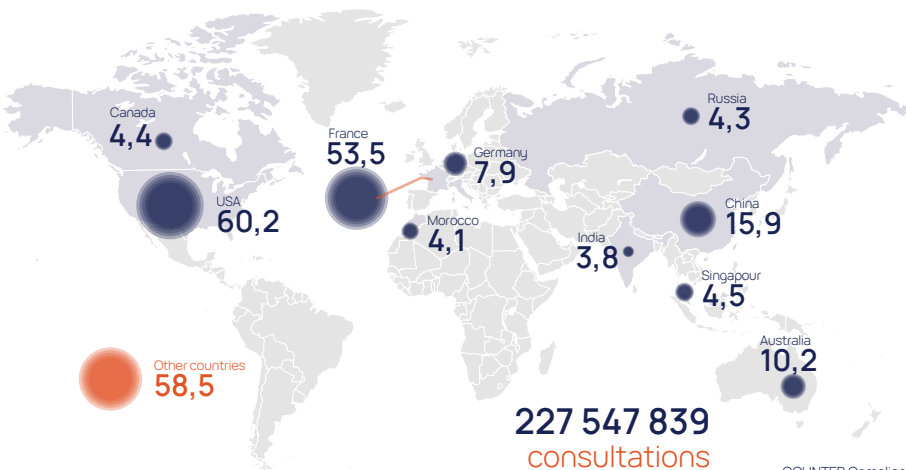

International visibility

Language of the full-text documents

The ten countries with the highest number of document consultations (record consultations and document downloads) in 2024 (in millions)

COUNTER Compliant
designed by freepik

